Please RSVP by Monday, June 7, 2021. English and Turkish simultaneous translation will be available. For more information please contact Event Coordinators Derya Barlak (dbarlak@worldbank.org) and Secil Paker (spaker@worldbank.org).

About the Event: As part of the Turkey Human Capital Series, this public knowledge event examines the Labor Returns to Education and the Green Transition. The event will focus on three aspects of the transition: improving the returns to education, leveraging digital systems, and the future of work. New work will be featured based on research on the returns to different levels and sectors within the Turkish education system (including new research by Patrinos et al, 2021), the implications of emerging trends in educational technology on digital delivery systems and skills (highlighting the Turkey Safe Schooling and Distance Education Project), and the link to the future of work in adapting to evolving demand for labor.
